of technocrats, who possess knowledge of IPR and Patents in research based Pharmaceutical and Engineering industry, so this program will increase employability of our students. After thorough training of this course, students can start their own consultancy firm in the field of IPR and Patents. So students can become Entrepreneur after going through this program. This will bridge the gap between Indian and Chinese figure of patents filing per year.

The event started off with a brief introduction of the GTU-IPFC. Further, the session was taken up by the event resource person Mr. Nilesh Patil (M. Tech., L.L.B) from the DPIIT, Ministry of Commerce and Industry. The session was briefly addressing all the aspects of basics of IPR and making students learn about the different practical approach of IP in the technical field. The session ended with quite interactive question and answer session at the end with feedback. More than 50 students actively participated.

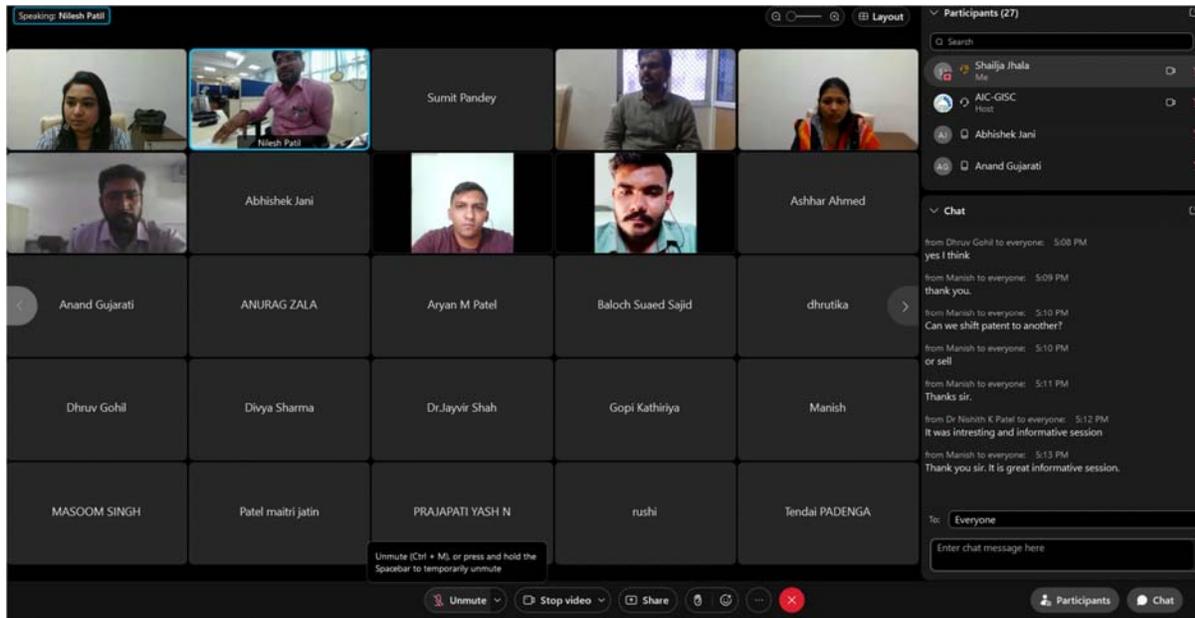

Glimpse of the Event:

The screenshot shows a Zoom meeting interface. At the top, there are three video thumbnails for participants: Dr. Jayv Shah, sahl, and Bhoomika Jaywal. A fourth thumbnail shows Nilesh Patil, the resource person, in a video call. The main screen displays a Microsoft PowerPoint presentation. The slide is titled 'INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY RIGHTS' and features a diagram of a lightbulb. Inside the lightbulb, there are three colored circles: a green circle labeled 'Resources', a red circle labeled 'Brain', and a blue circle labeled 'Labor'. An arrow points from the bottom of the lightbulb to the word 'Property' written below it. The presentation software interface is visible, including the ribbon and slide thumbnails on the left. On the right side of the Zoom window, there is a 'Participants (51)' list and a 'Chat' panel. The chat panel shows several messages from participants, including 'Good afternoon everyone' and 'Could you please start the meeting its 15:58...'. At the bottom of the Zoom window, there are controls for 'Unmute', 'Start video', 'Share', and 'Participants'.
